A $1 Dinner for 4

DO you realize that you can serve a bird of a dinner at a cost of twenty-five cents per person? No, we're not suggesting the method pictured above, but read the following menu and you'll get the idea.

Chili Con Carne au Gratin 45¢
Buttered Spinaches Beans 12¢
Sliced Cucumbers in Vinegar, Salt and Pepper 7¢
Bread and Butter 5¢
Cottage Pudding with Fruit Sauce 25¢
Demi-tasse 5¢

Chili Con Carne au Gratin: Put layers of chili con carne (from the contents of two 10½-ounce cans of chili con carne) and grated cheese (using one-fourth pound) in a buttered baking dish and pour over the liquor and half cup milk. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

Cottage Pudding: Beat one egg, add one-half cup sugar and four tablespoons milk. Add the following sifted dry ingredients: one-half cup sugar, three-fourths cup flour, one and one-fourth teaspoons baking powder and one-eighth teaspoon salt. Then add three tablespoons melted butter. Bake in a flat pan in a moderate oven—375 degrees—for twenty to twenty-five minutes. Cut in wedges and serve hot with the following:

Fruit Sauce: Mix one tablespoon flour with one-half cup brown sugar and add to the contents of an 8ounce can of crushed pineapple. Add one teaspoon vinegar and one and one-half tablespoons butter. Cook in a double boiler until creamy, stirring constantly. Add four tablespoons cream and serve over the hot pudding.*

Better Breakfasts

BETTER breakfasts mean better days—and that's the sort of days we need. He may be the angelic sort of husband who will eat toast and eggs and the usual breakfast menu without saying a word—but anyway, try him once with bacon and bacon with fish and he'll listen to the breakfast bell say: He may even feel so elated about things that he'll call up and say "Come on in for lunch, dear." Our menu suggestions below are tasty, colorful and delicious.

Chilled Mixed Fruit Juices
Ready-to-Eat Cereal with Cream
Small Sautéed Fish (Trout or Butterfish) with Bacon Strips
Spider Corn Cake
Coffee

Chilled Mixed Fruit Juices: Combine the following: ice cold ingredients and serve in small cocktail glasses or in glass cups; contents of one 2-ounce can of pineapple juice, contents of one 10-ounce can of grapefruit juice, one-fourth cup orange juice, two tablespoons fresh lime juice and one tablespoon sugar.*

Frenchman Would Show Toe-Dancing Fleas Here

Paris, France—The flea-tamer, Jean Rochet, who has presented his performing fleas at fairs all over France, was preparing his troupe recently for a forth-coming visit to the United States; provided he can get it through immigration and quarantine stations.

Rochet has devoted a lifetime to the study of fleas, teaching them tricks of toe dancing, gymnastics and juggling.

"Each one is trained according to his particular character and temperament," said Rochet. "When they are caught, each one is tied with a fine strand of golden wire, which is fixed with the aid of a microscope. This prevents the flea from escaping, since he can only jump a certain distance owing to the weight of the golden wire.

"The fleas begin to show propensities for either dancing, juggling or 'strong-man' feats and these qualities are developed carefully over a period of weeks.

"They get to know me soon and are extremely obedient. They can even be taught to respond to the dinner gong. I prefer the mule flea because he is more conscientious."

RHEUMATIC FEVER TRACED TO TEETH

Scientist Tells of Tests Made on Animals.

Philadelphia.—Jefferson Medical college has just completed experiments leading to prove definitely that rheumatic fever is the direct results of focal infections, such as infected teeth and tonsils.

This was achieved by managing for the first time to produce satisfactory infections artificially in animals and watching the immediate and subsequent results.

Dr. Virgil Holland Moon of the college laboratory announced the results and explained the methods of those experiments at clinical sessions in the amphitheater of Jefferson hospital, arranged by and for members of the institution.

He said that previous efforts at artificially inducing chronic focal infections in experimental animals had failed because the viruses used had been introduced under the skin by injection.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear son and brother, Clyde McCormick, who was murdered one year ago today, September 12.
One year has passed

Our hearts are sore,
Tears come and sudden was the call,
The manner of his death suffers us all.

Sweet memories will linger forever
Time cannot change them 'tis true,
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.

Some may think that we have forgotten you
The on earth you are no more,
But in memory you are with us
As you always were before.

What About Used School Texts You Don't Need Now?

Here's a chance for you to do a real service. Many school children this year will be hard-pressed to buy text books. You doubtless have a number of school books you don't need. A request has come out for the public to give used books to those pupils who cannot buy them themselves and a big response is sought. Carry or leave any school book you don't need to A. A. Burkey, county superintendent, or give them to your nearest school teacher. They will help worthy children in their efforts to get an education.

Man Hires Sea Divers to Search for Lost Gem

San Francisco, Calif.—Marine surveyors may be pressed that F. F. Harman, insurance broker, does not possess unlimited financial resources or the bottom of San Francisco bay might be radically altered.

Harman went for cruise on the bay in his small launch and had to work on the motor. To protect his $1,500 diamond ring he slipped it into a big pocket under a handkerchief. The labor required to repair the engine was considerable and he perspired. Naturally he pulled the handkerchief from his pocket to wipe his brow and the valuable jewel came with it, being flipped overboard.

The broker, instead of bewailing his loss, hired Theodore Wick and Frank Waldman, deep sea divers, to go to the bottom of the bay, scoop up buckets of mud and bring them to the surface. The inspector each bucketful, but many hours of such procedure was unsuccessful.

Woman Kicks at Dog Tax for Wooden Canine

Lowell, Mass.—Mrs. Florence Underwood protested so vigorously when she received her dog tax bill that a city employee was sent to her home to investigate. The woman explained that the only dog she owned was a wooden one which decorated her lawn. The assessment was rescinded.

Airplane Saves Life of Strangling Baby

Alameda, Calif.—A two-minute airplane flight from Reno to the San Francisco bay airdrome here was credited with saving the life of two-year-old Henry Baker.

The boy swallowed a button while playing at the Reno home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Baker. To prevent strangulation, doctors said an immediate operation was necessary. When the plane, piloted by Frank Cochran, landed here, the boy was taken to Lane hospital, where the operation was successful.

Cattle Thieves Attack Ranches of Canadians

Winnipeg.—The prevalence of cattle rustling and the increase in cattle thefts from ranges in western Canada by rustlers using auto trucks is alarming the ranchers of Saskatchewan. This was revealed at the session of the Saskatchewan Stock Growers' association convention held in Regina, Sask. Edward Evans, secretary, in reading the resolution asking that additions be made to the proposed amendment to the stock inspection act, stated that it was known that rustlers cornered cattle and placed them in trucks or else shot cattle and hauled the carcasses away in trucks to points as far as 200 miles from the scene of the theft and then sold them.

To stop this practice it was suggested that all hides and carcasses should be marked in designated places by government officials; that ears should be left on hides; that stock be inspected en route and at destination. Further, that bill of sale be presented to all brand inspectors.
